Jack Ostergard — Cowboy Poet - Cowboy Humorist

For a brand of entertainment you can count on, let me introduce you to the guy who fits the ticket! Jack Ostergard. Jack can be described as a retired rancher with a gift of gab and a penchant for rhyming words-he has a cowboy's lanky build, and you'll usually find him wearing Wrangler jeans, boots and a Western-out shirt and a Stetson hat!

Jack is a fourth generation rancher born and raised on the edge of the sandhills in Custer County. He is an ex-amateur rodeo competitor, a Korean War veteran, and for many years served on Nebraska .Cattle Ass'n. boards. Jack was second place OYFR (Outstanding Young Farmer Rancher) in Nebraska and in 1986 was the first recipient of the Nebraska Cattleman of the Year award. His original cowboy poetry ranges from Protest to Humor, with a dose of Politics thrown in for good measure!! It's good, clean family entertainment that's sure to please!

Jack has presented his poetry and humor all across Nebraska and in several neighboring states as well, and would welcome the opportunity to address your group. Most western states hold their own "gatherings" on a yearly basis. He has been featured poet in both Nebraska and Kansas cowboy poet gatherings.
